Special offer for New Zealand

If you live in New Zealand and would like to attend the 46th annual conference of the Australian Garden History Society, we are offering a special deal: the cost of registration includes a one-year digital membership of the Society.

This year's conference will explore the rich history of the Orange district in Central West New South Wales, the land of the Wiradjuri. The area's rich basalt soils have seen waves of horticultural endeavour. Once known for its cherries and apples, Orange is now most famous for its shiraz and chardonnay.

Delegates to the full conference will enjoy three half days of lectures, with a variety of garden visits each afternoon and wine tastings, and the conference dinner.

Register here and add (NZ) after your name so we can identify you:
https://events.humanitix.com/46th-aghs-conference-orange

Hurry, too, if you wish to join the optional tour to Molong on Monday 28 September or to take advantage of former New Zealander Stuart Read's extensive knowledge of the Blue Mountains. He will be leading the pre- and post-conference tours (22 to 24 September and 29 September to 1 October).

Further details can be found in the registration brochure:
https://www.gardenhistorysociety.org.au/wp-content/uploads/2025/12/2026AGHS-Conference-brochure-final.pdf

Two women and a man admire the view from Mount Canobolas, photo Orange City Library. Mount Canoolas/Gaanha Bula is an important cultural site for local Indigenous people, who have gathered there for thousands of years.